Faculty

The faculty is composed of prominent attorneys actively engaged in the practice of law. These men are graduates of leading law schools, and have been carefully selected with a view to their teaching ability and by their qualifications are particularly adapted for legal instruction. As a general rule, the instructors teach subjects with which they are intimately concerned in their private practice. Several of the faculty members are on leave of absence, serving with our armed forces.

GENERAL INFORMATION

P u r p o s e

It is the primary purpose of the Law School of Golden Gate College to prepare the student for the successful practice of the legal profession in any common law jurisdiction. In furtherance of such purpose, instruction is given not only in relation to case law of the past, but with the view of familiarizing the student with the present period of transition of law as it meets the needs of a complex urban civilization.

The study of law is approached from a viewpoint of common interests secured by law and their effective protection by the courts.

Experience as well as democratic principles point the need for the maintenance of the evening law school as an important and necessary part of our system of legal education. The Law School of Golden Gate College has dedicated itself to the filling of this need by offering to ambitious men and women a high grade of instruction in the law, through a curriculum carefully prepared to equip them with the knowledge and training necessary for admission to the bar and the successful practice of the profession.

In carrying out its primary purpose, it is the policy of the law school to give particular attention to developing in its students the ability to analyze a problem in a lawyer-like manner, and the art of accurate and persuasive expression, both written and oral, upon legal matters. Due attention is also given to the economic and sociological problems of our times in their relation to the law, and to the fields of broad and varied cultural knowledge which the study of the law opens up.

H i s t o r y

The law school of Golden Gate College was established in 1901 by the Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of San Francisco. It was the first law school in California to offer evening instruction.

Golden Gate College is a non-profit educational institution of collegiate grade and functions as the educational division of the San Francisco Y.M.C.A. The college was incorporated in 1923 and its Board of Trustees and Board of Governors were granted authority by the State to confer the degree of Bachelor of Laws on students completing the legal curriculum.

Location

Golden Gate College is located on the third and fourth floors of the Central Y.M.C.A. at 220 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco. This central location in the downtown district of the city makes it readily accessible to anyone residing or employed in the bay region. The college office is located on the ground floor with a separate entrance at 200 Golden Gate Avenue.

In the Civic Center, three blocks from the College, are conveniently located the City Law Library, to which the students have access, the State Supreme Court, the District Court of Appeals, and the Municipal and Superior Courts, which afford unusual opportunities for advanced research and observation of trial procedure.

Some classes, including first year classes, will be held in the business district location of the college at 537 Market Street, near Sansome Street, in downtown San Francisco.

Law Library

The school maintains an up-to-date and adequate library for law study and student research. Sets of books on California law include the Reports and Appellate Reports, California Pacific Digest, McKinney's New California Digest, California Jurisprudence, Shepard's California Citator, Bancroft's Code Practice and Remedies, and the California Codes and General Laws.

Books on Federal Law include the United States Code Annotated, the Supreme Court Reports and Reporter, and the Federal Reporter and Supplement. Encyclopedias include Ruling Case Law, American Jurisprudence, Corpus Juris and Corpus Juris Secundum.

Law Reviews include California Law Review, Harvard Law Review, and Southern California Law Review.

The library also contains the American Digest System, the New York Reports and Northeastern Reporter, Pacific Reporter (2nd), Uniform Laws Annotated, and the Restatement.

The selected case series includes American Decisions, American Reports, American State Reports, English and American Annotated Cases, Lawyers' Reports Annotated (L.R.A.) and Annotated Law Reports (A.L.R.)

The standard textbooks and treatises including Williston on Contracts, Wigmore on Evidence, Remington on Bankruptcy, Beale on Conflicts, Tiffany on Real Property, Fletcher on Corporations, Pomeroy on Equity Jurisprudence, and Scott on Trusts, in addition to many single volume textbooks, make up an effective student library.

The extensive facilities of the law library located in the city hall are available to students for use in research and brief making.

Method of Instruction

The "case" method of study is used. This method is recognized as furnishing the best training for the student in the development of legal reasoning and comprehension of the principles of law. The cases are required to be briefed and presented for discussion and criticism during class. California cases, recent decisions, code study, law review articles and legal treatises are prescribed to parallel and supplement case book assignments.

In the matter of case books used and subjects covered, the examples of the University of California, Stanford, Harvard, Yale and other leading law schools are followed.

It is the belief of the faculty that the best results can be obtained by proper combinations of general and local authorities. While all the courses are based upon case books and text books embodying material taken from many common law jurisdictions, and this general foundation always receives its due and proper emphasis, each course is supplemented with instruction in California case and statutory law.

The work of the faculty is supplemented by occasional lectures on special topics given by judges, public officials and specialists in particular fields.

In the classroom the student participates in discussion. Particular emphasis is laid upon careful analysis, logical reasoning and accurate expression.

Classes

Classes meet three evenings each week, from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. These classes are usually held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Length of Course

The course in legal study leading to the LL.B. degree covers a period of approximately four school years. Classes begin in August and January. The College year is divided into two semesters and a summer session; a total of forty-five weeks each year.

There are three vacation periods during the year: two weeks in December, one week in May, and three weeks in July and August.

Students beginning in January are required to complete a four and a half year course for graduation. At the discretion of the faculty, certain students of exceptional ability may be permitted to take courses four nights a week during the last two years to complete the course in three and a half years.

The shorter course is the equivalent in classroom hours of the longer, but is not recommended. Most employed persons should not attempt to complete a law course in less than four, four and a half, or five years under present conditions.

Requirements for Admission

REGULAR AND SPECIAL STUDENTS:

Applicants for admission to the law school who are candidates for a degree must present a certificate of graduation from an accredited high school. In addition, the applicant must file a certificate showing successful completion of at least one-half the work acceptable for a Bachelor's degree granted on the basis of a four-year period of study at a recognized junior college, college or university. Applicants admitted in accordance with these requirements are classified as regular students. A limited number of students who do not meet this latter requirement but who are of mature age (25 years or older) and have had such business experience or other educational background as would, in the opinion of the Dean compensate for the lack of college credits, may be permitted to enroll as special students in the law school. Applicants admitted in accordance with these requirements are classified as special students.

ADVANCED STANDING:

An applicant seeking advanced standing must present, in addition to the entrance credits of high school and college work, a record of his work in another law school, together with proof of honorable dismissal therefrom. If work has been pursued in another law school, the student will receive credit for such work only if it is equivalent in the amount and character required in this school. A minimum of one year of attendance at this law school is required in all cases as a prerequisite to receiving the degree. Applicants may be required to undergo examinations in any of the subjects for which credit is sought.

The granting of all advanced standing applications is within the discretion of the Dean.

Requirements for Advancement of Regular and Special Students

A. Regular Students shall make the following grade averages:

1. To qualify for admission to the second year, a regular student shall have an average grade of C plus or better in at least 21 units of work, including Torts; Contracts; Personal Property; and Criminal Law.

2. To qualify for admission to the third year, a regular student shall have an average grade of C plus or better in 21 or more units of work earned in the following courses: Sales; Real Property; Negotiable Instruments; Business Associations; Agency; Creditor's Rights; Security Transactions; Equity; Domestic Relations and Community Property; and, Wills and Administration.

3. To qualify for admission to the fourth year, a regular student shall have a cumulative average of C plus or better for at least 63 units of work. This average will be computed upon all courses taken.

4. To qualify for recommendation for the LL.B. degree, a regular student shall have a cumulative average of C plus or better in at least 84 units of work, including Constitutional Law; Evidence; and Practice and Procedure; Conflict of Laws; and Trusts.

B. Special Students shall make the following grade averages:

1. To qualify for admission to the second year, a special student shall have an average grade of C or better in 21 or more units of work, including Torts; Contracts; Personal Property; and Criminal Law.

2. To qualify for admission to the third year, a special student shall have an average of B minus or better in 21 or more units of work earned in the following courses: Sales; Real Property; Negotiable Instruments; Business Associations; Agency; Creditor's Rights; Security Transactions; Equity; Domestic Relations and Community Property; and, Wills and Administration; provided, however, that this average shall be computed upon the first 21 units of work taken by a student in any of said courses following admission to the second year.

3. A special student who has been advanced to the third year is automatically classified as a regular student, and subdivisions 3 and 4 of section A above pertaining to regular students apply.

C. Action relating to a student's advancement may be taken at the end of any semester, depending on the number of units of credit earned by the individual student involved.

D. A student who, by the end of a semester, has not fully completed the work for a given year may, with the approval of the Dean, take courses for the succeeding year, but will not actually be advanced until work for the previous year has been completed in accordance with the above standards.

Examinations, Attendance and Grading

One or more preliminary examinations and a final examination are held in each semester course.

Examinations must be taken at the time scheduled. Exceptions to this rule will be made only when it is impossible for students to be present. Permission to miss an examination and to make it up subsequently must be secured from Dean Jordan in advance. A fee of $5.00 will be charged for examinations taken at a special time.

Attendance is required in at least eighty per cent of the class periods in each course.

Requirements for Degree

Students will be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Laws on the completion of eighty-four units of law study with an average grade of C+ or better.

Faculty Reservation

The Law School reserves the right to deny enrollment or continuance in school or to refuse the degree of Bachelor of Laws to any student who, for reasons attributable to character or want of capacity, is not, in the opinion of the faculty, fitted for the study or practice of law.

Veterans of World War II

Veterans of World War II may have the cost of tuition, fees, and required books and supplies paid by the Veterans Administration under most circumstances. Veteran students who are not working full-time may also qualify for some subsistence. Applicants under the "G. I. Bill" should consult the Registrar well in advance of the date they intend to enter training. Some veterans have not used the veteran benefits. Some have been, or may still be "On-the-job-training". Some have attended another educational institution, and some are changing their objective. Each case requires different forms and procedures that must be cleared before the applicant may enter classes.

Fees

The tuition fee in the School of Law is $11.50 per unit. In addition, there is an annual fee of $3.00 for the Golden Gate Law School Association which will be added to the first payment in the fall semester. (Students beginning in January will be charged $1.50 for the spring semester.) A graduation fee of $7.50 to cover cost of diploma, cap and gown, etc. will be charged, payable one month before graduation.

Students will be enrolled on a semester basis. When courses extend beyond a semester, the charges will be prorated between the semesters. A 6-unit course, which extends through two semesters, will be charged at the rate of 3 units for each semester. A 4-unit course, which completes 3 units within one semester and 1 unit in the next semester, will be charged on that basis, i.e., 3 units to the first and 1 unit to the second semester. Most semester costs may be figured as follows:

Fall Term: Full Course, 9 units.....	$103.50

Law Books

Although the college maintains an effective student law library, evening law students who are employed during the day will have very limited time for law library study and must consequently be equipped to do most of their preparation at home. The student will need a good law dictionary, the California Codes, the leading student text books required for certain courses, especially in the first year, and the case-books on which most of the courses are based. Case-books and text books may be sold after the course or retained for future reference. If students buy used books when available and resell, the cost for books may be budgeted at $35 during the first year and $25 per year thereafter. If all books are purchased new and retained, the cost may run as high as $50 or $60 per year.

Law books may be purchased through the College bookstore at list prices. The bookstore does not buy used books.

Bancroft-Whitney Prize

The Bancroft-Whitney Law Publishing Company awards a six volume set of Jones on Evidence to the honor student of the graduating class.

Recorder Publishing Company Prize

The Recorder Publishing Company awards a year's subscription to the advance sheets of the California Reports and Appellate Reports, to the graduate who made the most progress during his last year in the law school.

Golden Gate Law School Association

Professional and social activities in the law school are arranged by the officers of a student organization, the Golden Gate Law School Association. Opportunity is thus afforded to become socially acquainted with the other men and women students and with the faculty members.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

The curriculum consists of courses which are intended to cover the entire field of law with sufficient comprehensiveness to enable the diligent student to meet successfully the problems of bar examinations in California and elsewhere. The program of instruction is arranged, as far as possible, to present the fundamental, basic courses during the first and second years, and the more advanced and specialized courses during the third and fourth years.
