GOLDEN GATE UNIVERSITY

CITATION

A native of Portland, Oregon; educated at the University of Oregon; a distinguished business executive whose special concern has been the relationship of business and community; his professional life has been deeply involved with the destinies of one of America's great business enterprises. Beginning his association with Henry J. Kaiser in 1938, he participated in the development of all phases of the Kaiser organization and rose to the position of the firm's senior vice president. At the same time, a dedicated and effective civic leader, whose services to his community have included such major responsibilities as President of the United Crusade, President of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, President of the Oakland Symphony and, since 1964, Member of the Board of Trustees of this University and, for the past two years, the Board's Chairman. A man of exceptional self-discipline who places the highest demands upon himself, yet is always respectful of the best efforts of others; a gracious man, with the humility and gentleness that come only from deep inner strength.

In recognition of his outstanding contributions to American business, to the Bay Area community and to the progress of Golden Gate University, the Board of Trustees of the University hereby confers upon
