Dear Friend:

From the outset of this legislative session, the Committee on Higher Education recognized the fundamental and serious consequences of the severe budget reductions imposed on our public colleges and universities. To respond to the challenge, we engaged in an intensive, broad-based reassessment of the landmark Master Plan for Higher Education. Through more than a dozen hearings, a statewide working conference, and a provocative set of draft recommendations that sparked spirited debate, we encouraged innovation, efficiency, and excellence.

Beyond the comprehensive consideration of the Master Plan, the Committee developed effective and thoughtful policy solutions for intractable problems facing higher education. We passed legislation to reform student financial aid priorities and delivery (AB 319, AB 1064, AB 1561, and AB 2227), end turf battles between high schools and community colleges over adult education programs (AB 1056), restore public confidence by making the institutional governing boards more accountable (ACA 11, ACA 20, and AB 2113), and fulfill the state's funding commitment to community colleges (AB 973 and AB 3474).

Our Subcommittee on Workforce Training, Development, and Educational Support looked to the future of California's economy and refocused the attention of legislators and educators on preparing our citizenry for the jobs of tomorrow (AB 486, AB 2774, and AB 2775), while several of our members worked to implement the new National Service Program in California (AB 606, AB 1104, AB 1077, and AB 2080).

Much of the legislation passed during the session represented major new initiatives in difficult policy areas; as a result, many of the bills failed to win approval of the Senate or the Governor. However, the proposals, like the problems they were designed to correct, will remain before the Legislature, and we expect these initial efforts to form the basis of further legislative deliberation in coming sessions.

The work of the Committee is the result of dedicated commitment by its extraordinarily capable members, and its staff. I thank my colleagues for their intensity of focus, willingness to grapple with hard choices, and unabashed devotion to education.

This Legislative Summary provides abstracts of the 107 bills that were heard by the Committee during the 1993-94 Regular Session and the 1993-94 First Extraordinary Session. Bills that were dropped by the author prior to the first hearing, and Senate bills that were not passed by that house, are not included. The abstracts are organized by subject matter, and an index of the bills by number is included at the end for easy reference.

Sincerely,
