Professor Kristin Henning's new book, Rage of Innocence, documents the institutional mechanisms that criminalize Black youth in America.

About this event

Golden Gate University School of Law and the Pacific Juvenile Defender Center (PJDC) are very pleased to host Professor Kristin Henning and her new book: Rage of Innocence: How America Criminalizes Black Youth. This talk will be moderated by GGU Law Professor Jyoti Nanda with introductions from PJDC President Patricia Soung.

Drawing upon twenty-five years of experience representing Black youth in Washington, D.C.'s juvenile courts, Kristin Henning confronts America's irrational, manufactured fears of these young people and makes a powerfully compelling case that the crisis in racist American policing begins with its relationship to Black children.

Rage of Innocence is a brilliant analysis of the foundations of racist policing in America: the day-to-day brutalities, largely hidden from public view, endured by Black youth growing up under constant police surveillance and the persistent threat of physical and psychological abuse.

KRISTIN HENNING is a nationally recognized trainer and consultant on the intersection of race, adolescence, and policing. She is the Blume Professor of Law and director of the Juvenile Justice Clinic and Initiative at the Georgetown University Law Center.
