DEAN'S MESSAGE

"The ethic we share is that lawyering is an honorable profession. We seek to instill in our students a sense of responsibility to the profession and to the community."

Golden Gate University School of Law provides our students with a solid foundation in legal theory and with the skills necessary for the successful practice of law. In class, students are challenged to view law not merely as rules to be mastered, but also as social problems to be explored and questioned. Through our extensive clinical offerings, our highly respected litigation program, and our comprehensive writing curriculum, students acquire skills in analysis, document drafting, advocacy, trial technique, counseling, interviewing, and negotiating. While maintaining rigorous academic standards and demanding a high level of scholarship, the school is supportive of and responsive to student needs.

The Law School faculty has a strong and shared commitment to teaching and to being accessible to students. Combining excellent academic credentials with expertise gained through the practice of law, the faculty is uniquely qualified to bring to the classroom a practical dimension often lacking in American legal education.

There is no dichotomy between teaching and research at Golden Gate. Stimulating teaching generates new ideas, which leads to serious scholarship, often involving faculty-student collaboration; while faculty scholarship brought to the classroom enriches the learning experience.

Through legal scholarship, community involvement, and litigation arising from our clinical programs, faculty have been instrumental in shaping legal doctrines, many of which have expanded individual rights. Faculty members have led in the evolution of the law in such areas as health rights of institutionalized persons, property rights of artists, rent control, environmental protection, alternative dispute resolution, funding for low income housing, international transactions, criminal law, and immigration policy.

The ethic we share at Golden Gate is that lawyering is an honorable profession, worthy of the public trust. Accordingly, we seek to instill in our students a sense of responsibility to the profession and to the community. By educating our students in an atmosphere of open and mutually respectful collegiality, our graduates have the intellectual, emotional, and ethical strength to contribute to the profession and to the community.

Anthony J. Pagano, Dean

THE UNIVERSITY & THE LAW SCHOOL

"The importance of having a law school close to one's place of employment cannot be overemphasized."

*Anne von Rogov, '91
Associate
Coopers & Lybrand*

Golden Gate University is a private nonprofit institution of higher education. It is accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. The University is a major center for professional education in the fields of management, business, public administration, and law.

The Law School, founded in 1901, is one of the oldest law schools in the western United States. It is fully and separately accredited by the American Bar Association, the Association of American Law Schools, and the Committee of Bar Examiners of the State of California. Graduates qualify to take the Bar in all 50 states and in the District of Columbia.

The school offers a full-time day program and part-time day and evening programs leading to the Doctor of Jurisprudence (J.D.) degree. A Master of Laws (LL.M.) degree in taxation and combined degrees are also awarded. Students may begin their legal education in August or in January.

Student Body

The student body, which numbers some 800, is a mix of working professionals and recent college graduates drawn from more than 100 undergraduate and graduate institutions. Students come from all parts of the country as well as from several foreign nations. They represent a wide spectrum of ethnic, economic, and cultural backgrounds.

Location

Golden Gate is a downtown law school. Hundreds of law firms, government agencies, and state and federal courts are located within walking distance of the school. This permits second- and third-year students to work while attending school. In this way, students gain practical experience and lawyering skills while making professional contacts, which many maintain throughout their legal careers.

CURRICULUM

The law is a broad and demanding profession. In addition to mastering the rules of statutory, judicial, and constitutional law, a good practitioner must be skilled in writing, interviewing, counseling, negotiating, and oral advocacy. Most importantly, if the attorney is to shape future development of the law, he/she must understand the ethical, political, social, and economic policies which underlie the law. Golden Gate University School of Law bases its curriculum on this multifaceted view of the lawyer.

The Law School shapes its curriculum to meet the diverse career goals and intellectual interests of its students. Students can choose electives from a broad range of courses or may elect to concentrate in one of several areas. Specialization Certificates are awarded in the fields of Public Interest Law and International Law and are planned for Trial Advocacy, Real Estate Development, and Environmental Law. Advanced students have an opportunity to earn academic credit while gaining practical experience by enrolling in one of Golden Gate's clinical or externship programs.

Graduation from the Law School satisfies the legal education requirements of the Bar in all 50 states. Copies of the California Bar Rules and all registration forms and applications are available in the Law School Registrar's Office. Each state has special requirements concerning registration, residence, and legal and prelegal education. A digest of these requirements is on file in the Law Library.

TYPES OF PROGRAMS

Full-Time Day Program

The majority of students enroll in the full-time day program, which normally takes three years, but can be completed in two and one-half years. To allow students more flexibility in their schedules, after completing all first year courses, full-time day students can take one evening course per semester.

Part-Time Evening Program

Continuing its longstanding commitment to provide legal education opportunities to all segments of society, the Law School offers a part-time evening program, which was the first of its kind in the nation to be recognized by the American Bar Association more than 80 years ago. The part-time program normally takes four years, but can be completed in three and one-half years. Part-time evening students usually attend class four nights a week in their first year and three nights a week thereafter. Students who wish to graduate within four years must attend one or two eight-week summer sessions. Part-time evening students may transfer to the full-time division at the end of any academic year.

To accommodate students with work or family commitments that make it impossible to attend either full-time day or part-time evening, special arrangements can be made to take a part-time load during the day. Students interested in this option should contact the Associate Dean of Students after gaining admission to the Law School.

Mid-Year Admission Program

The Law School offers a full-time day and part-time evening Mid-Year Admission Program to students who wish to begin law school in January. One of the chief advantages of this program is small class size. Since mid-year students attend classes during their first semester with only other mid-year students, class size usually ranges from 20 to 45.

Mid-year students begin their law studies by completing a number of substantive law courses in their first semester, which fall admission students normally complete over their entire first year. When mid-year students return for the fall semester, they are sectioned into their remaining, required first year classes with other first year students, but they may also take electives with second year students. Students entering in January are not required to attend law school during the summer; however, those who wish to accelerate graduation or who wish to take a reduced course load the following year may take courses during any summer session.

Mid-year students who graduate in December qualify for the winter bar examination, given in most states in late February.

Summer Session

The Law School offers an eight-week summer session, open to students from Golden Gate and other ABA-approved law schools. Most classes are scheduled in the evening. The summer session schedule is available from the Law School Registrar each February.

COMBINED DEGREES

The Law School, in conjunction with the University's graduate programs in management, finance, taxation, accounting, and public administration, offers one of the most extensive combined degrees programs in the nation. These programs allow a student to pursue simultaneously a law degree and a master's degree in a related field, including:

JD/MBA	Accounting
JD/MBA	Finance
JD/MBA	Health Services Management
JD/MBA	Human Resources Management
JD/MBA	International Management
JD/MPA	Health Services
JD/MPA	International Public Service
JD/MPA	Public Administration
JD/MS	Taxation

Each program is individually designed around the student's area of interest and takes into account his/her education and occupational background. As some courses are credited to both the JD degree and the master's degree, up to two semesters of time and expense are saved by pursuing the two degrees concurrently.

Any student interested in the combined degrees program must first apply to, and be accepted by, the Law School. Law students normally do not need to take either the GMAT or GRE examinations to gain admission to the masters program. After completing the first semester of law school, the student applies to the appropriate graduate program, and an individual program is structured for the student. The student begins the combined portion of the program in the second year of law school.

GRADING AND ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

The JD degree requires the completion of 86 units of study.

Grading of student work in the Law School is based on the following eight-category letter system with numerical equivalents:

A	4.0 points
A-	3.5 points
B	3.0 points
B-	2.5 points
C	2.0 points
C-	1.5 points
D	1.0 points
F	0.0 points

All required courses are graded by letter grade. In order to graduate, a student must have an overall grade point average (GPA) of at least 2.0, as well as a minimum GPA of 2.05 in required courses. A maximum of 9 units may be taken on a credit/no credit basis during a student's law school career. This limit does not include clinics, externships, or courses offered solely on a credit/no credit basis.

Students must comply with all academic standards set forth in the Student Handbook. The standards are subject to change before the beginning of any academic year and are amended from time to time.

The Law School maintains records relating to students for various academic purposes. The right to inspect these records is in accordance with the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-380, as amended. Information about specific procedures is available upon request from the Law Registrar.

The Law School reserves the right to suspend or dismiss students for violation of Law School or University policies or regulations, or for conduct inimical to the best interests of the Law School or other students attending the University.

PROFESSIONAL SKILLS

LITIGATION

The image of the lawyer in the courtroom is a dramatic one. Becoming a litigator, persuading a jury, and advocating a client's cause appeal to many law students. In the past, lawyers learned the art of litigation as part of their on-the-job training after completing law school.

Today, the legal system can no longer afford new lawyers the luxury of learning on the job. New law school graduates need to be prepared for the challenges that face them in the courtroom before they step into it. This preparation must come from the training they receive in law school.

The litigation curriculum at Golden Gate University is one of the most comprehensive in the country. After taking the basic courses in Trial Advocacy, Civil Litigation: The Pre-Trial Phase, and Lawyering Skills: Interviewing, Counseling, and Negotiating, students can choose from a wide array of advanced courses including Mock Trial, Advanced Mock Trial, Appellate Advocacy, Alternative Dispute Resolution, International Dispute Resolution, The Courtroom as Theater, and special litigation courses in Criminal Litigation or Family Law Litigation.

Golden Gate graduates who complete the Litigation Program are widely recognized for the quality of their skills by law firms, prosecutors' offices, and public and private criminal defense offices. The Program addresses every aspect of litigation, from fact gathering, to thinking and planning, to trial techniques, to appellate review.

Students also have the opportunity, through clinical offerings, to assist in actual litigation while working at public agencies, federal and state prosecutors' offices, and federal and state public defender offices.

TRIAL COMPETITIONS

Students with a serious career interest in litigation are afforded an opportunity to develop their skills through trial advocacy competitions. Golden Gate participates in a number of major competitions each year, including the National Mock Trial Competition, the Association of Trial Lawyers of America Competition, and the American Bar Association's Criminal Justice Trial Competition.

The Law School has an outstanding record of success in these competitions, including winning four regional championships and being semi-finalists in six others. In addition, Golden Gate has hosted five regional trial competitions in the past, including the Western Regional of the National Mock Trial Competition, involving teams from 22 schools. Many Law School students, including those in their first year, had an opportunity to participate in the competition in the role of witnesses or court officials.

TAXATION

Golden Gate has offered an LL.M. Program in Taxation since 1978. This Program of advanced studies in the field of taxation is intended for attorneys who wish to specialize. The Program leads to the graduate degree of LL.M. in Taxation.

The presence of this Program in the Law School affords an excellent opportunity for J.D. students concentrating in taxation or wanting to explore particular aspects of tax law. With permission of the Associate Dean of Student Services, J.D. students may elect courses in the LL.M. Program and receive credit toward their J.D. degrees. Last year, over 30 different advanced tax courses were offered through the LL.M. Program, providing a broad range of alternatives.

In recent years, increasing numbers of Golden Gate J.D. students have chosen to continue their formal education by applying to the LL.M. (Tax) Program. A separate application is required upon completion of the J.D. degree for either full-time or part-time graduate studies.

"My tax education at GGU has given me not only the knowledge required to become a tax attorney, but also the confidence needed to begin my career."

PUBLIC INTEREST

At Golden Gate, an integral part of a well rounded legal education involves service to the community. In addition to the many courses and clinics in the curriculum which focus on public interest law, the following programs are offered:

PUBLIC INTEREST LAW PROGRAM

The Public Interest Law Program prepares students to represent the public interest as attorneys for government agencies, legal aid offices, community organizations, and public interest law firms, and as private attorneys providing pro bono services. Students who complete the requirements are designated Public Interest Law Scholars upon graduation and receive a Certificate of Specialization.

A student in the Public Interest Law Program must take 14 units of approved elective courses. These courses can be taken either at Golden Gate or at any law school participating in the Public Interest Law Consortium, including Hastings College of the Law, the University of California, Davis, and the University of Santa Clara Law School. Each student must complete 25 hours of work with the Public Interest Clearinghouse and complete a minimum 150-hour Public Interest Practicum, which provides intensive experience in various types of public interest practice.

Immigrant Legal Resource Center

The Immigrant Legal Resource Center is a joint project of Golden Gate University Law School and Stanford University School of Law. The center assists legal service programs, community agencies, and pro bono attorneys in the immigration and asylum field. Under the direction of an attorney, law students engage in legal research and writing on various immigration issues. They help draft substantive manuals and present training programs and may provide actual representation in test cases. Also, as part of Golden Gate's Public Interest Clinic, students may work as law clerks for firms and agencies specializing in immigration law, frequently representing clients before the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Public Interest Work Study Program

This program permits students to gain valuable work experience with government agencies and public interest organizations. When these agencies are unable to pay students for their services, the Law School provides work study matching funds, enabling students to be paid for jobs for which they would otherwise have to volunteer.

Public Interest Loan Assistance Program

As an affirmation of its commitment to public interest law, the Law School offers a Public Interest Loan Assistance Program (PILAP), which provides grants to law school graduates who choose careers in public interest law. The grants are awarded on the basis of financial need to help graduates repay educational loans.

ENVIRONMENTAL LAW

Environmental law is a dynamic, challenging field that commands increasing influence with each passing year. Environmental lawyers must respond to the critical and ever-growing number of legal, social, economic, and scientific issues. Today, environmental concerns affect virtually every legal sphere — from real estate transactions to corporate law to labor negotiations. No business transactions should be entered into without taking into account environmental issues and concerns.

Golden Gate Law School offers students a rich, exciting, and varied course of study in environmental law, one that goes beyond the confines of conventional environmental law curricula. The Environmental Law Program provides students not only with broad academic training, but also with the practical skills needed to gain a full understanding of environmental law in order to become successful practitioners.

In addition to basic classes in Environmental Law, Natural Resources Protection, and Land Use Regulation, advanced seminars are offered in Hazardous Site Liability, International Environmental Law, and Race, Poverty, and the Environment. Since California is at the forefront of many environmental issues with its laws frequently setting national trends, Golden Gate offers special seminars in California Environmental Law. Students may also participate in the National Professor Cliff Rechtschaffen (center) reviews recent changes in environmental law with students.

Environmental Law Moot Court competition, and, through the active, student-run Environmental Law Society, become involved in a variety of environmentally related activities.

Through the Environmental Law Clinic, students can gain invaluable hands-on experience practicing environmental law while attending law school. Students work in the regional office of the Environmental Protection Agency, located just a few blocks from the Law School, for state and county agencies, and for national and local environmental organizations, many of which are headquartered in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Recognizing the disproportionate impact that a lack of sound environmental policy has had on disadvantagged communities and communities of color, last year Golden Gate added a course on Race, Poverty and the Environment to the curriculum. This seminar, which focuses on issues of “environmental justice,” was taught by Professor Ralph Abascal, one of the national pioneers in this field.

WRITING OPPORTUNITIES

Because good writing skills are essential to all areas of legal practice, the Law School offers a broad range of writing opportunities. Students must complete a comprehensive program that includes three required courses. First-year students take Writing and Research, second-year students take Appellate Advocacy, and third-year full-time students and fourth-year part-time students take Solving Legal Problems.

Various elective courses foster the development of writing abilities. In seminars, students prepare substantial research papers under close faculty supervision. A student with particular interest can enroll in Selected Legal Problems and undertake an independent research paper. To further sharpen writing skills, students may also take one of the many Special Problems courses or the Advanced Writing Workshop. The Golden Gate University Law Review and the Caveat student newspaper provide further writing opportunities. The Law Review, which is produced by students, selects members by academic standing or on the basis of a writing competition. Each year, the Law Review publishes three issues: a survey of cases from the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals; a Women's Law Forum; and a Notes and Comments issue which focuses on a current legal issues, such as the First Amendment, civil rights, and intellectual property. The Caveat is the award-winning monthly publication of the Student Bar Association.

Professor Larry Jones explains a legal theory to his class.

INTERNATIONAL LAW

The International and Comparative Law Studies Program at Golden Gate University provides students with a wide range of offerings in the fields of international and comparative law. Students have an opportunity to learn from faculty who teach and practice in universities and law firms around the world. In addition to choosing from an extensive list of classes, students can attend one of three Golden Gate overseas programs. They can also participate in the Jessup International Moot Court Competition and attend special conferences regularly held at the school.

"This is the greatest teaching experience I've ever had. I've learned a lot from the students' questions and from the comments of Professor Sompong Sucharitkul."

*Franco Ferrari
Visiting Professor of Comparative Law*

Professor Franco Ferrari shares his knowledge of international law.

INTERNATIONAL FACULTY

The strength of Golden Gate's international program can be attributed to Distinguished Professor Sompong Sucharitkul, Director of the International and Comparative Law Studies Program. A former ambassador, member of the International Law Commission, and university professor on three continents, he is world renown in his field.

Professor Franco Ferrari, also a professor at universities in Germany and Italy, is a comparative legal systems specialist. In addition, all adjunct faculty teaching international subjects have either studied or worked abroad, or practiced extensively in fields directly related to the subjects they teach.

Each year a number of international visitors come to the Law School to teach, lecture, and participate in conferences. Some, such as Professor Alexander Martinenko from Kiev, Ukraine, visit for an entire semester; others, such as Professor Peter Malanczuk from the University of Amsterdam, come for shorter periods. In the past few years, visitors have come to Golden Gate from Austria, Bulgaria, China, European Economic Community, Finland, Germany, Hong Kong, Italy, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Netherlands, Philippines, Switzerland, Taiwan, and the Ukraine.

COMPETITIONS AND SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Golden Gate sponsors two overseas summer school programs. The first focuses on Pacific Rim studies and is located at Chulalongkorn University in Bangkok, Thailand. The second, opening in summer 1994, is located in the oldest law facility in the Western world, the University of Bologna, Italy. With permission, students can also take courses in one of the more than fifty other overseas summer programs sponsored by American Bar Association-approved law schools.

Golden Gate awards a limited number of fellowships to graduates to spend a "fourth year" of study at the University of Paris (Nanterre), specializing in international and comparative law studies. Graduates who spend a semester studying at University of Paris (Nanterre) may earn a Diploma of European Law, while those spending a full year plus internship period can qualify for a Diploma d'Etudes Superieures Specialeses (DESS) degree.

Faculty exchanges are also conducted with the University of Paris, as well as with the University of Amsterdam. In addition, through faculty contacts, students are assisted in finding overseas summer employment. Students have worked in Belgium, France, Italy, and several Pacific Rim countries.

OVERSEAS PROGRAMS

Each year the school enters teams in the Jessup International Moot Court Competition. In recent years the Golden Gate team has received numerous awards.

The Law School hosts the Annual Fulbright Scholars Conference, which brings together a distinguished and provocative panel of former and present Fulbright scholars from around the world to discuss cutting edge topics. In 1992 the symposium focused on Current International Problems Affecting the Pacific Rim, and in 1993 on Current Issues in International Environmental Law. The Law School, together with the International Law Student Association, also sponsors an International Speakers Forum, which brings distinguished lawyers, judges, diplomats, and professors from abroad to discuss a range of topics.

CLINICAL PROGRAMS

Clinical programs are an integral part of the curriculum at Golden Gate. Through both on-site and field placement clinics, students work under close faculty supervision in selected law offices, government agencies, and judges' chambers while earning academic credit. Clinic participants gain valuable practical experience and apply the knowledge gained in class to actual legal cases. A seminar component is required of all clinics.

ON-SITE CLINICAL PROGRAMS

Constitutional Law Clinic

As part of the Western Center for Constitutional Rights, the Constitutional Law Clinic has developed a national reputation for innovative and successful work on cases involving issues of civil rights and civil liberties. Students work under the supervision of Professor Mort Cohen, concentrating on the health rights of institutionalized persons.

Women's Law Clinic

Funded by a private foundation grant, the Women's Law Clinic, under the supervision of Professor Marci Seville, focuses on employment related issues affecting women, particularly low-income women entering the work force.

In his third year of law school, Mehran Massih worked as a judicial extern for U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham.

FIELD PLACEMENT CLINICS

Criminal Law

Students registered in the Criminal Law Clinic assist prosecuting attorneys or public defenders in criminal cases in both trial and appellate courts. Professors Bernie Segal and Susan Rutberg supervise the Criminal Law Clinic.

Environmental Law

Students interested in careers in environmental law are placed in government agencies, such as the United States Environmental Protection Agency or the California Coastal Commission, or private environmental organizations, such as the Sierra Club or the Natural Resources Defense Fund. Students may also be placed with law firms engaged in environmental practice. The Environmental Law Clinic is supervised by Professor Cliff Rechtschaffen.

Family Law Clinic

The Family Law Clinic provides students with broad exposure to many aspects of family law practice, including marital dissolution, custody, visitation, support, and adoption. The seminar component of the Family Law Clinic is conducted by Adjunct Professor D'vora Parker, and the field placements are under the supervision of Professor Laura Dorman.

Judicial Externships

Under the supervision of Professor Laura Dorman, students selected for the Judicial Externship Program work in judges' chambers performing a variety of duties.

The Law School's faculty are readily accessible to students, as exemplified by Professor Markita Cooper (l).

Landlord-Tenant

Under the supervision of Professor Myron Moskowitz, students work as law clerks for attorneys specializing in landlord-tenant issues.

Public Interest

Professor Marc Stickgold and Adjunct Professor Jo Anne Frankfurt supervise the Public Interest Clinic, through which students are placed with public and private agencies. The clinic participants assist in representing people and groups concerned with legal issues affecting the public interest which, depending on the interest of the individual student, may include AIDS advocacy, juvenile issues, housing, entitlements, disability rights, legal issues affecting the elderly, or immigration.

Real Estate

LAW LIBRARY

A comprehensive program to acquire effective legal research skills is critical to the education of a lawyer. At Golden Gate, students learn how to use the literature of the law in an attractive and modern library, which houses the largest collection of Anglo-American law in the San Francisco financial district. The Law Library emphasizes service to students and faculty and the continued development of a collection to meet their research needs.

Professional librarians provide individual reference assistance to students and faculty. First-year students complete training in the use of Lexis and Westlaw databases, and specialized training in computer research is available to advanced students.

The Law Library houses over 200,000 volumes, including a comprehensive collection of case law from all jurisdictions, statutes of all the states, and the major digests, encyclopedias, periodicals, and treatises dealing with American law. The Law Library has a strong tax collection, as well as an extensive collection of English, Canadian, other Commonwealth, and some international law materials.

The Law Library is a selective depository for both federal and California state documents. It is a member of the Research Libraries Information Network, a national consortium for the on-line exchange of bibliographic information and interlibrary loan.

In addition to collection and general study areas, the Law Library has a computer lab, two computer research and training rooms, seven enclosed typing-computer stations, and a separately staffed Reserve Room with study space and offices for the Law Review and law student organizations. A faculty library is maintained near the faculty offices.

STUDENT SERVICES

Housing

Students at Golden Gate live in many Bay Area communities. BART and San Francisco MUNI stations and the San Francisco Transbay bus terminal, which serves Berkeley, Oakland, Marin, and the peninsula, are a block from the school. Nearby Marin ferries and CAL Train commuter service make public transportation to Golden Gate one of the easiest commutes in the Bay Area. The University's Student Services Office maintains a list of available apartments and houses to share. The University is also within walking distance of most of the downtown residential clubs and hotels. These provide convenient, temporary facilities for students searching for permanent housing.

Bookstore

The Golden Gate University Bookstore stocks all required textbooks and some 20,000 reference titles for scholars and professionals in its Professional Reference Section. It has extensive Law, Taxation, and Real Estate collections and is the primary outlet for Continuing Education of the Bar (CEB) materials. The bookstore accepts MasterCard, American Express, and Visa.

Student Lounges

Snacks, sandwiches, coffee, and soft drinks are available from vending machines in the 6th Floor Student Lounge, a comfortable place to relax and socialize. The lounge is open during regular building hours. During fall 1993, construction was completed on a new Law School Student Lounge, along with offices for some student organizations. The Law Student Lounge is on the second floor of the main building.

Recreation

Private health clubs and extensive YMCA facilities are located within easy walking distance of the Law School.

Student Services

The University Office of Student Services offers health and accident insurance information. The Associate Dean for Student Services of the Law School is available for short-term personal and academic counseling and provides referrals to outside professionals for long-term counseling and other support services.

All University facilities are readily accessible to disabled students.

To comply with various federal laws, Golden Gate University maintains a Drug Abuse Awareness and Prevention program. Information regarding these laws may be obtained from Golden Gate University's Office of Staff and Faculty Training and Human Resources and Equal Employment Opportunity. In addition, the Law School presents regular programs on substance abuse and its impact on the legal profession.

Academic Assistance Program

To help students fully develop skills in legal analysis and exam writing, the Law School offers a comprehensive Academic Assistance Program. All first-year students are encouraged to participate in this voluntary program, which combines lectures on study and exam-taking techniques and practice examination sessions.

Students learn basic skills: how to prepare for class, how to outline (organize) course material, and how to analyze legal questions. Students also learn how to apply a rule of law to a legal issue; how to use facts to build an argument; how to argue both sides of a question; and how to organize an examination answer within time constraints. Instructors prepare the practice questions, and student teaching assistants evaluate the practice answers. In addition, the Law School has offered programs on time and stress management.

Student Groups

Student groups at Golden Gate are very active and provide a variety of opportunities for student involvement. Under the auspices of the Student Bar Association, student groups offer mutual support, sponsor speaker series and social events, and perform community service. These groups include:

SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

The Law School awards a number of full-tuition and partial-tuition scholarships each year on the basis of academic achievement and financial need. Awards are made to both entering and continuing students.

"The scholarships I received made it possible to attend Golden Gate without worrying about a lot of the financial pressure of law school."

*Kelly Charles
2nd-year student
Recipient of Diana Richmond
Scholarship and Natalie F. Podell Law Scholarship*

In order to attract a highly qualified student body, the Law School awards many scholarships based solely on merit. These Merit Scholarships are granted to entering students based upon undergraduate and graduate school achievement, LSAT score, and demonstrated leadership qualities. There is no formal application for the Merit Scholarships. As awards are made on a rolling basis, students are encouraged to take the LSAT by December 1993 and apply early to guarantee consideration. Last year, over 50 entering students received Merit Scholarships, ranging in amount from $6,000 to full tuition; timely applicants who applied before March 1, who scored above the 85th percentile on the LSAT, and who had strong undergraduate records received a Merit Scholarship award.

Following is a list of additional available scholarships.

The Leon A. and Esther F. Blum Foundation Loan and Scholarship Program provides financial aid to worthy students attending accredited law schools in the City and County of San Francisco.

The Lawyers' Club of San Francisco offers an annual award, rotated among the seven Bay Area accredited law schools in memory of its founder, Allen E. Spivock. The grant is based on scholarship and need.

The Natalie F. Podell Law Scholarship was created by her family in memory of Natalie Podell, a 1977 graduate of the Law School who also served as a member of the University's Board of Trustees. Two scholarships are awarded to women with financial need. Preference is given to single women with dependent children, married women with dependent children, and single women.

The San Francisco Legal Auxiliary annually awards a scholarship, based on academic achievement and financial need, to a second-year or third-year student who is a graduate of a Bay Area high school and who plans to practice in the Bay Area.

The San Francisco Rotary Club Brad Swope Scholarship is offered to a full-time or part-time law student who demonstrates academic excellence, leadership potential, contributions to the law school and the legal community, and financial need.

The Law School also has a number of endowed scholarship funds created through the generosity of many alumni and friends.

The Frederick W. Bradley Scholarship, named for a 1966 graduate of the Law School, is awarded solely on the basis of financial need and is open to any current student.

The Phillip Burton Endowed Law Scholarships, named in memory of the former U.S. Congressman and 1953 Law School graduate, is awarded on the basis of academic merit, commitment to community service, and financial need.

The Lawrence Cowen Memorial Scholarship Fund, created by a bequest from one of the Law School's earliest graduates, provides scholarships to meritorious students.

The Louis Garcia Memorial Scholarship Fund was established in memory of Judge Louis Garcia, a 1952 graduate of the Law School and the first Hispanic judge to serve in San Francisco. Many alumni and local law firms and businesses have supported this fund, the primary objective of which is to assist minority students.

The Helen A. and John A. Gorfinkel Scholarship, named in memory of former Professor and Dean John Gorfinkel, is awarded annually on the basis of need and academic achievement.

The Paul S. Jordan Endowed Law Scholarship was created to recognize the outstanding contributions made over the years by Paul Jordan, a long-time Law School faculty member, Dean of the Law School from 1944 to 1959, and University Trustee. Preference is given to a student who demonstrates scholastic excellence and financial need.

The Richard W. Johnson Memorial Endowed Scholarship was created and funded by classmates and friends of Richard Johnson, a 1965 graduate of the Law School. This scholarship is awarded to a student at the start of his or her third year who has shown great academic improvement since starting law school.

The Joseph R. Rensch Endowed Scholarship is awarded to an upper division student on the basis of need, academic achievement, and a potential for business leadership.

The Diana Richmond Scholarship Fund for African-Americans was funded with a major gift by Diana Richmond, a 1973 graduate of the Law School and an established family practice lawyer in San Francisco. The scholarship provides assistance to first-year law students.

The Louie Sbarbaro Endowed Scholarship Fund is named for a longtime bon vivant and raconteur who resided in Siskiyou County, California. This is a need-based scholarship, and preference is given to students who live in Northern California.

The Catherine Sherbourne-Thompson Endowed Scholarship Fund is named in memory of a 1956 graduate of the Law School and its first female faculty member. This fund provides assistance to part-time women students in their third or fourth year.

The Professor James B. Smith Memorial Endowed Scholarship is given to part-time women students with significant financial need or to older students of either sex.

AWARDS

Top-ranked students in each class are named to the Dean's List each semester. Students earning the highest grades in selected classes receive American Jurisprudence Awards from the Lawyers Coop/Bancroft Whitney Publishing Company. Second-year students who excel in Appellate Argument are given awards for Best Brief and for Outstanding Oral Argument.

Students with distinguished academic records graduate with honors or with highest honors. In addition, graduating students are eligible for a number of honors and awards presented at commencement exercises. The J. Lani Bader Award for Academic Excellence is given to one of the top-ranked students in the graduating class; the Paul S. Jordan Achievement Award, named for Trustee and former Law School Dean Paul Jordan, is awarded to the law student who has made a distinguished contribution to the Law School; the Rose Elizabeth Bird Award is given for professionalism and integrity. Achievement Awards are given in various fields, including Constitutional Law, Corporate and Commercial Law, Criminal Law, Environmental Law, Family Law, Health Care Law, International Law, Labor and Employment Law, Litigation, Public Interest, Real Estate Development, and Taxation.

LAW PLACEMENT AND CAREER COUNSELING

"The Placement Center's on-line Westlaw terminal, Martindale-Hubble collection, and placement binders enable students to conduct a job search and prepare for a job interview all in one location."

*Anthony Hill
2nd-year student*

The Law Placement and Career Counseling Office assists students in planning their legal careers and in obtaining employment during and after law school. The Placement Office provides multifaceted services including: individual and group counseling, workshops on interviewing and resume writing, and career information programs.

The Placement Office maintains its own resource library to inform law students and alumni of the many opportunities available in the legal profession. WestLaw and Lexis terminals are available for computerized job searches. The Law School is a member of the National Association for Law Placement, which allows students and alumni to use the placement services of sister law schools throughout the country.

The Law School is actively engaged in outreach to legal employers in the Bay Area and throughout California. The Placement Office coordinates the on-campus and off-campus interview programs. Additionally, Golden Gate co-sponsors job seminars and symposia with the Barristers Club of San Francisco, Queen's Bench Association, Asian American Bar Association, and the Bay Area Minority Summer Clerkship Program. A fall Speaker Series brings a host of attorneys to Golden Gate to inform students of job opportunities in law firms, corporations, government agencies, and in the public interest sector. More than 100 prospective employers visit the campus each year to participate in these programs.

The Placement Office lists summer associate and school-year clerkships, judicial externships, and clinical and work-study positions for law students and serves experienced law alumni who wish to change jobs. The Placement Office works with each student in defining and reaching career goals, not just the top 10 to 15 percent of each class.

The Placement Committee, comprised of both faculty and students, works closely with the Placement Director in developing creative programs that anticipate trends in the legal profession and meet the needs of students and alumni.

ADMISSIONS

Golden Gate University School of Law seeks students from diverse backgrounds with the potential to succeed in law school and become active members of the legal community. In evaluating an application for admission, the Admissions Committee considers a candidate's academic achievement and performance on the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT), as well as the candidate's personal statement. Beyond the numbers, the Admissions Committee considers a myriad of other factors such as graduate studies, work experience during and after college, community activities, and other life experiences.

PRE-LAW PREPARATION

Applicants must hold a baccalaureate degree or its equivalent from an accredited college or university at the time of registration for Law School classes. No specific undergraduate major or course of study is required. Candidates are encouraged to take a well rounded study program, including courses from the humanities and the sciences. Because the study and practice of law require an ability to think and communicate clearly, applicants should take undergraduate courses in which their writing is edited vigorously and their analytical reasoning skills are challenged.

For additional information on preparing for a legal education, candidates should read The Official Guide to U.S. Law Schools, published by the Law School Admissions Council.

Application Form, Fee, and Deadlines

The application form is in the back of this Bulletin. The deadline to submit applications for the fall 1994 full-time day program is April 15, 1994. The deadline for the fall 1994 part-time evening program is June 1, 1994. For the fall entering classes, the LSAT must be taken by February 1994. The deadline to apply for Mid-Year Admission beginning in January 1994 is November 15, 1993; the LSAT must be taken by October 1993. Students who wish to apply for the January 1995 session are encouraged to take the June 1994 LSAT and must have taken the LSAT by October 1994.

Each application must be accompanied by a nonrefundable $40.00 processing fee. Checks or money orders should be made payable to Golden Gate University. Applicants with financial hardship may request a waiver of the application fee. These applicants must include with their application a letter formally requesting a fee waiver which details the financial hardship involved; supporting documentation to verify financial hardship should be included.

The Law School communicates with applicants primarily by mail. Therefore, it is imperative that applicants keep the Admissions Office informed of their current mailing address. Students should immediately notify the Admissions Office in writing of any address changes. Such notices should include the student's full name, Social Security number, current and former address, and current and former telephone numbers.

Law School Admissions Test

All applicants for admission as degree candidates must take the LSAT, which is administered by the Law School Admission Service. The test is given four times each year at test sites throughout the United States and abroad; LSAT dates for 1993-94 are October 2, 1993, December 4, 1993, February 12, 1994, and June 13, 1994. Applicants must have taken the LSAT within three years of the date of application. Detailed information about the test is in the Law Services Information Book 1993-94.

Law School Data Assembly Service

The Law School participates in the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS), which collects and analyzes academic and test records of law school applicants. Applicants should submit transcripts of all college work to LSDAS as early as possible. College seniors, including those attending Canadian schools, should not wait for fall grades before submitting transcripts. For information regarding LSDAS, applicants should write to the Law School Admission Service, Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940, or telephone (215) 968-1001. Every applicant must include a Law School Application Matching Form, located in the LSAT/LSDAS registration materials, with his/her application to Golden Gate. The Law School uses this form to request each applicant's LSAT score and transcript analysis.

Personal Statement

Because admissions decisions are not based solely on quantifiable factors, the personal statement is the candidate's opportunity to address the Admissions Committee. A strong personal statement answers these questions: Why do you want to study law? What in your background leads you to believe you will be successful in law school and in a legal career? What special skills, attributes, and experiences will you bring to the law school community? What other pertinent matters should the committee consider in weighing your application? Not everyone needs to address every question, but analyzing these questions helps the applicant produce a cogent personal statement. In recent years, an increasing number of people who have been out of school for some time have matriculated at the Law School. Returning students often discuss their experiences raising families and/or working in diverse disciplines, such as law enforcement, social agencies, medicine, and business.

The statement should be in essay form rather than resume form and should be no longer than four pages in length, double-spaced and typed. Applicants should not submit books, tape recordings, plays, theses, dissertations, or other such materials in lieu of, or in addition to, the personal statement.

Letters of Recommendation

Written recommendations are not required but will be placed in the applicant's file if provided. If letters are provided, they should be detailed evaluations from individuals who know the applicant's academic ability and can assess potential for success in law school.

Interviews and Visits

The volume of applications received by the Admissions Office precludes granting personal interviews for admission purposes. Applicants may, however, arrange appointments with the Admissions staff to discuss their questions about the Law School. Such meetings will not be considered part of the application process.

Golden Gate's faculty holds a deserved reputation for high-quality classroom teaching. For that reason, the Law School encourages applicants to visit classes. Any applicant who wishes to visit the Law School, attend a first-year class, or talk with a faculty member should call the Admissions Office at (415) 442-6630.

The Application Process

No decision can be made until the application and all supporting documents have been received by the Law School. A complete application file consists of an application for admission, personal statement, and LSDAS report. As an applicant's file becomes complete, it is forwarded to the Admissions Committee soon thereafter. Applications may be considered before letters of recommendation are received. It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that all documents are received by the Admissions Office in a timely manner. Admission decisions are made on an on-going basis, and, as seats are limited, it is advantageous to apply early.

If an applicant indicates that he/she plans to retake the LSAT, the Admissions Office will not consider the application complete until the subsequent LSAT score is received. Upon written request from the applicant, consideration of an application may also be delayed until receipt of additional materials, but such delay is not encouraged.

The Admissions Office thoroughly considers each application. Every attempt is made to notify the applicant of a decision as soon as possible. Admissions decisions are final.

Because the Admissions Office receives a large number of applications, the Law School requests that applicants who wish to inquire about the status of their applications telephone between 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. on weekdays. The Admissions Office number is (415) 442-6630.

Acceptance Deposits

Upon notification of admission to the Law School, a nonrefundable deposit of $100 is required of all applicants and must be paid when due, subject to cancellation of the admission offer. Each admitted applicant will be requested to reconfirm his/her intent to matriculate during the summer, at which time a second nonrefundable deposit will be required. Both deposits will be credited toward the initial tuition payment. An offer of admission is strictly for the semester applied to and cannot be deferred to a subsequent session.

Reapplication

Application files, including all supporting documents, are retained by the Law School for two years. A new application form and fee will be required to reactivate the file. In general, a reapplication should be supported by a new personal statement, an improved LSAT score, graduate transcripts, or other evidence of increased likelihood of success in law school.

SPECIAL ADMISSIONS SITUATIONS

Conditional Admit Program

The Law School offers a free, six-week program for minority, educationally disadvantaged, and ESL applicants who do not meet traditional entrance requirements but who may possess the skills necessary for a career in law. Participants are selected from the pool of applicants denied regular admission to the Law School. Special emphasis is placed on the applicant's remarks on the "Optional Information for Special Admissions Consideration" section on the application. The program includes instruction in substantive law and legal writing. At the end of the six weeks, students will take two examinations, and those with successful results will be offered admission.

International Students

International students follow the same basic application procedures as domestic students. However, international applicants whose native language is not English must take both the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) and the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). To register for the LSAT, contact the Law School Admission Service (see address in Law School Data Assembly Service section of Bulletin). To register for TOEFL, write to TOEFL/TSE Services, P.O. Box 6151, Princeton, NJ 08541-6151, or call (215) 750-8050.

International applicants need not register with the LSDAS if they have completed their undergraduate study outside the United States or Canada. Such applicants must register with the International Education Research Foundation Inc. Credentials Evaluation Service, P.O. Box 66940, Los Angeles, CA 90066, (213) 390-6276, for an evaluation of their undergraduate work. The Law School will accept credential evaluations from other qualified agencies. The Admissions Office requires a complete subject breakdown as part of any credentials evaluation report. A report of basic equivalency is insufficient.

International students must indicate on the application their visa status. The Admissions Office will send the appropriate immigration documents to the applicant to facilitate matriculation in the United States. International applicants should be familiar with immigration laws regarding study in the United States before making application.

Transfer With Advanced Standing

Students who have successfully completed at least one full year at another ABA-approved law school may apply to transfer with advanced standing to the Law School. The applicant must submit:

- 1) Application for admission to the J.D. Program;
- 2) $40 application fee;
- 3) Personal statement;
- 4) A copy of the LSDAS report sent directly from the law school previously attended;
- 5) Letter of recommendation from a law professor;
- 6) Official law school transcripts;
- 7) Letter of good standing from the previously attended law school.

The deadline for transfer applications is June 1, 1994. However, the Law School recognizes that some materials may be delayed by processing at the applicant's home law school. Applicants need not re-register with Law Services. Transfer applications are generally considered in the latter part of July. An applicant offered admission will be notified of the credit, up to a maximum of 30 units, granted for previous law school work. Admitted candidates should meet with the Associate Dean for Student Services to plan their curriculum at Golden Gate.

Visiting Students

Students who have successfully completed at least one year of study at another ABA-approved law school may apply to attend the Law School as a visiting student. A visiting student is defined as anyone who wishes to attend Golden Gate University for one or more semesters, but who anticipates receiving a degree from the home law school.

The deadline for visitor applications is June 1, 1994. Visiting students must provide the following:

- 1) Application for admission to the J.D. Program;
- 2) Non-refundable $40 application fee;
- 3) Official law school transcript;
- 4) Personal statement explaining the reasons for requesting visiting status at Golden Gate;
- 5) Letter of good standing from the home law school.

The letter of good standing should certify that credits earned at Golden Gate University will be applied toward satisfaction of the home law school's degree requirements. Visiting students may not request an incomplete, re-examination, or other privileges afforded regular Golden Gate University students.

Any student attending an ABA-approved law school who only wishes to take one or more elective courses or Summer Session electives at Golden Gate University need not apply for visiting status but should contact the Law School Registrar's Office, (415) 442-6620.

Special Students

Members of the Bar, graduates of ABA-approved law schools, and others persons satisfying the requirements for admission may apply to audit courses at the Law School. Application is by letter, addressed to the Registrar, setting forth the reasons for wanting to audit the particular class. Documentation of the applicant's professional and/or academic status and permission of the course instructor are required. Auditors pay the same tuition as matriculated students.

TUITION AND FINANCIAL AID

TUITION

The following tuition and fees are expected to become effective in fall 1993. The rates published in this Bulletin have generally remained in effect for at least one academic year. Tuition usually will increase with the rate of inflation. The University reserves the right, however, to adjust the rates for tuition and fees prior to the beginning of each semester.

FINANCIAL AID

The Financial Aid Office administers a full range of programs to help students who need financial assistance at Golden Gate University School of Law. The Office provides budget and debt management counseling, evaluates students' financial needs, and determines financial aid awards. The Financial Aid Office is responsible for maintaining standards and procedures which are in compliance with federal regulations, donor restrictions, and University policies, and which most equitably help meet students' financial needs.

To be eligible to receive assistance from the Federal and Campus Based Financial Aid programs at Golden Gate University, a student must meet all the following requirements:

1. Admission into the J.D. Program;
2. Enrollment in the Law School (at least a half-time unit load is normally required);
3. United States citizenship or proof of permanent residency/other eligible alien status;
4. Satisfactory academic progress;
5. Registration with the Selective Service, if required by federal law;
6. No default on any Title IV loan and no refund owed on any Title IV grant;
7. Demonstration of financial need as determined by an analysis performed by the Financial Aid Office;
8. Completed Financial Aid file — students should continue to complete their Financial Aid file even if they have not been notified of their admissions status.

Students who need financial assistance to attend the University are expected to apply for Stafford Loans and for state fellowships, if they are eligible. Many students may expect to apply for the Supplemental Loan for Students (SLS) and/or privately funded loans in order to meet their financial needs.

TYPES OF LOANS

Federal Stafford Loans

Depending on the financial need analysis, an eligible student may borrow up to $7,500 ($8,500 for periods of enrollment beginning after October 1, 1993) for each academic year of study (usually two semesters) from a bank or financial institution which participates in the Stafford Loan program. Repayments begin six months after the student graduates or ceases to be enrolled at least half-time, whichever comes first. Students who do not have financial need may borrow through the Federal Un-Subsidized Stafford Loan Program. Un-Subsidized Stafford has the same terms and conditions as Stafford, except that the borrower is responsible for interest that accrues during deferment and the six month grace period.

Loans are disbursed in two equal checks: the first at the beginning of the first semester of the loan period, and the second at the beginning of the second semester. A new borrower at GGU must attend a loan counseling session before his/her Stafford Loan check may be released.

Campus Based Financial Aid (CBFA)

The Campus-Based Financial Aid program for law students consists of the Federal Work-Study and Perkins Loan programs. It is funded annually by the Federal government, the University, loan repayments from alumni, and wages from agencies that provide jobs. Students must submit the Financial Aid Application by March 1 of each year to be considered for CBFA for the following fall and spring semesters and for summer Work-Study. Funding is limited, and eligible students who have the greatest financial need and apply by the deadline are given priority. Entering law students should apply as early as possible. Students who miss the application deadlines will be considered for funding that has been declined by priority applicants.

Financial aid information is automatically sent to students who apply for admission to the Law School. New students interested in financial aid should obtain forms from the Financial Aid Office as early as possible in order to meet the priority deadlines for Campus-Based Financial Aid.

Federal Work-Study

(FWS) (available only to upper division law school students)

The Federal Work-Study program

was designed by the federal government to expand part time employment opportunities for students who demonstrate financial need. Besides providing a means of financial assistance for the student, an FWS job is intended to complement the student's educational program or career goal. Most jobs developed under this program are intended to serve the public interest and meet needs of the community or the University; thus, most off-campus job providers are nonprofit agencies.

A student who receives an FWS award is approved to earn a specified amount in an FWS job. Award amounts may range from $1,500 to $2,500 for the academic year, including summer, fall, and spring semester earnings.

Federal Perkins Loan

The amount of a Perkins Loan varies but seldom exceeds $2,500 per year. Loans are repayable at a 5 percent annual interest rate beginning nine months (for new borrowers) after an individual ceases to be at least a half-time student. A student may have up to ten years to repay the loan at a minimum of $40 per month for a new borrower, depending on the amount owed. The maximum amount that a student may borrow through the Perkins Loan program for graduate and professional study at all institutions is $18,000.

Professor Susan Rutberg practiced indigent criminal defense for 14 years before becoming an instructor in the litigation program.

School of Law Loan

The Golden Gate University School of Law Loan program was established to make additional low-interest loan funds available to entering law students who have demonstrated academic achievement and promise, with the same basic terms of repayment as the Perkins Loan program. The amount awarded in any given year ranges up to $6,000. The maximum is determined each year based on available funding. Interest begins to accrue nine months after the borrower ceases to be enrolled at least half-time. These loans are awarded to students entering the Law School in the same manner as Law School scholarships. A separate application is not required. Awards may be renewable for subsequent years of enrollment at the discretion of the Law School, depending on available funding and other considerations.

Federal Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS)

Up to $10,000 per year may be borrowed in an SLS from a bank or lending institution. The annual interest rate for Supplemental Loans is set each year and is variable, but will not exceed 11% for new borrowers. Repayment of the principal begins within 60 days of the final disbursement unless the student also has a Stafford Loan (then there is a six month grace period) or when the student ceases to be enrolled on at least a half-time basis. Full-time students may capitalize the interest payment to be paid after graduation. Like a Stafford Loan, an SLS is disbursed in two checks; and a loan counseling session is mandatory for a first-time borrower.

Private Loans

Credit worthy students who need loans to meet the cost of education may be eligible for a Law Student Loan (LSL) or a Law Access Loan (LAL) of up to $15,000 per year. The total maximum for all LSLs or LALs is $45,000; the maximum for all educational loans is $84,500. Repayment begins after one has graduated or ceased to be enrolled as at least a half-time student. Interest, fees, grace periods, and other terms vary slightly between the LSL and LAL programs. A student should consult a Financial Aid Counselor regarding these loans, especially if the student is eligible for any other forms of federal assistance.

California Graduate Fellowships

California Graduate Fellowships are awarded to California residents who intend to become college or university faculty members. Recipients are selected on the basis of academic excellence (including grades and test scores), and financial need. The maximum award has been $6,490 per year. Competition for California Graduate Fellowships is keen. All Graduate Fellows must be full-time students. The awards may be renewed for up to three additional years if the student is making normal progress toward the graduate or professional degree. Students who have already received a graduate or professional degree or have completed graduate or professional work beyond the first year are not eligible for a California Graduate Fellowship.

Veterans' Benefits

Students who qualify for Veterans Administration Educational Assistance programs may use their benefits at Golden Gate University. A new student may request advance payment of his/her veterans' benefits by submitting a written request to the Veterans' Affairs Coordinator in the Financial Aid Office. Students receiving veterans' benefits should notify the Veterans' Affairs Coordinator of any changes in their academic programs as soon as possible.

Financial Aid Tuition Postponement Plan

If a student has been approved for financial aid (including a certified loan) which has not been disbursed, and if the student cannot pay tuition at the time of registration, he/she may use the University's Financial Aid Tuition Postponement Plan. Under this plan, an eligible student may postpone a tuition payment amount which does not exceed the amount of the approved financial aid for the semester. Such postponement may last until the financial aid has been disbursed or until the last day of the semester, whichever comes first. A student who uses the plan must sign a promissory note at the time of registration. If the approved financial aid is subsequently disapproved or canceled for any reason, the postponed tuition payment amount is due and payable.

Failure to pay tuition after receiving financial aid will result in a 10 percent late payment charge and may cause a student to lose deferred payment and postponement privileges and become ineligible for University loans. In order to determine eligibility for the Financial Aid Tuition Postponement Plan, the University may review a student's credit history with national credit reporting agencies.

Employment

Students must contribute to their educational costs from their own employment earnings. They are expected to use University placement services, as well as off-campus resources.

Emergency Loans

A registered law student whose income is temporarily interrupted or who has an unforeseen emergency may borrow up to $500, interest-free, from the Judith Grant McKelvey Emergency Student Loan Fund. The Queen's Bench-Marjorie B. Anderson Loan Fund is available for small, interest-free loans to women law students. These loans usually must be repaid within a month, but not later than the end of the semester.

Additional emergency loans are available in amounts up to $400 from the University Financial Aid Office and must be repaid within one month or by the end of the semester, whichever comes first. These loans are supported by gifts from friends and alumni, including the Albert I. Levine Memorial Fund, the Herbert Pothier Memorial Student Emergency Loan Fund, the Sonoma County Loan Fund, the Stanley Breyer Loan Fund, the M. Graham Loan Fund, and the Past-President Memorial Loan Fund.

Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education

The Law School participates in the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) program for students from western states without an accredited law school (Alaska and Nevada). The commission provides payments of up to $4,300 per academic year for such students. For information about the WICHE program, write to Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, P.O. Drawer P, Boulder, CO 80301-9752.

Bar Review Loan

The Golden Gate University School of Law Bar Review Loan (BRL) was established to make low-interest loan funds available to graduating law students to help pay for the cost of a bar review course.

Any student planning to take the California Bar for the first time can apply for a loan to cover a portion of the cost of a review course, up to $1,000. Terms of repayment are the same as for the Perkins Loan or the School of Law Loan.

Students will be selected based on their total level of indebtedness including prior Law School Loans, the ability to obtain private bar loans, and required and cumulative GPAs. All students will be considered to the extent that funds are available.

Two private loans have been established to help students pay for bar review study courses and bar exam fees. Students who have borrowed through the Law Loans program may apply for the Bar Study Loan (BSL), which provides loans up to $5,000. Students may also apply for the Bar Exam Loan (BEL) provided by the Law Access program for loans up to $5,000.

POLICIES

Golden Gate University complies with federal and state laws regarding the possession, sale, and consumption of alcohol and other drugs (Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989 [PL 101-226]; Hawkins-Stafford Elementary and Secondary School Improvement Amendments of 1988 [PL 100-297]; Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988 [PL 100-690]).

Federal and state laws prohibit the sale and use of drugs which are not prescribed by a physician or available for regular retail sale. Any student known to be possessing, using, or distributing such drugs is subject to serious University disciplinary action (suspension or dismissal) and arrest under the state and federal laws. The University will facilitate counseling and referral to treatment as appropriate.

Under strict supervision, alcohol may be served at approved events. Prior approval for student events must be obtained from the Dean of Student Services. The State of California prohibits the possession, sale, or consumption of alcohol by anyone under 21 years of age.

The University assumes no liability, and hereby expressly negates the same, for failure to provide or delay in providing, educational or related services or facilities, or for any other failure or delay in performance arising out of, or due to causes beyond the reasonable control of, the University, which causes include, without limitation, power failure, fire, strikes by University employees or others, damage by the elements, and acts of public authorities. The University will, however, exert reasonable efforts, when in its judgment it is appropriate to do so, to provide comparable or substantially equivalent services, facilities, or performance, but its inability or failure to do so shall not subject it to liability.

The University reserves the right to change regulations, curricula, courses, tuition, fees, and other aspects of its programs as described in this Bulletin.

It is the intent and policy of the University to promote actively the objectives and policies of nondiscrimination set forth in Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Vietnam Era and Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, Executive Order 11246, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, and all other applicable federal, state and local antidiscrimination laws. Golden Gate University does not discriminate, within the meaning of these laws, on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual preference/orientation, handicap, age, disabled veteran status, or Vietnam Era veteran status in employment in its educational programs, or in the provision of benefits and services to its students.

Golden Gate University will provide accessible programs and facilities and make reasonable academic adjustments and provide auxiliary aids to a qualified applicant or student with a disability unless such accommodation would cause undue hardship on the operation of its business.

Students with questions concerning the University's policy of nondiscrimination (including questions concerning nondiscrimination on the basis of disability, academic adjustments and accessibility) should contact the Associate Dean for Student Services of the Law School at (415) 442-6615.

Applicants or students who feel they may have been subject to unlawful discrimination in connection with any Law School program, including discrimination on the basis of disability, may file a complaint with the Associate Dean for Student Services of the Law School. Applicants or students are encouraged to follow the Grievance Procedure outlined in the "Procedure for Processing Unlawful Discrimination Complaints." A copy of that document may be obtained from the Associate Dean of Student Services of the Law School. The following is a description of the Procedure for Processing Unlawful Discrimination Complaints:

The complainant should first discuss the complaint with the director of the Law School program involved. If this discussion does not resolve the problem, the complainant may discuss the complaint with the Law School administrator responsible for the aforementioned program.

If the circumstances of the complaint prevent discussions with the Law School program director or Law School administrator or if the complaint is not resolved within five (5) working days, the complainant may then file a written complaint.

The complainant must file a written complaint within 120 days of the alleged unlawful discriminatory action and submit it to the Associate Dean of Student Services of the Law School. Investigation of the complaint will begin within fourteen (14) working days of receipt of the written complaint.

Upon receipt of the written complaint, the Associate Dean of Student Services of the Law School will attempt to resolve the matter informally. If the complaint is not resolved informally, a Complaint Review Panel will hear the complaint and receive testimony and information from witnesses. Within five (5) working days of the close of the hearing, the Panel will forward its findings and recommendations to the President of the University and to both parties to the complaint.

The President will issue a decision within thirteen (13) days of receipt of the Panel's findings and recommendations. Both parties to the Complaint will be notified of the resolution of the complaint within ninety (90) days of the beginning of the investigation. The decision of the President will be final.

J.D. PROGRAM APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

(Please read carefully.)

1. The application must be typed or printed legibly in ink, signed by the applicant, and mailed or personally delivered to the Law School Admissions Office, Golden Gate University, 536 Mission Street, San Francisco, CA 94105.
2. All questions must be answered. If answer is "no" or "none" or if the question is "not applicable," please so state. Failure to fully complete the form or to furnish supporting documents will delay action on the application.
3. Please note all requirements and procedures set forth in the Law School Bulletin.
4. A personal statement as described in the Admission Requirements section of this Bulletin should be enclosed with the application.
5. It is the applicant's responsibility to furnish official transcripts and LSAT score reports.

Transcripts: Golden Gate University is a participating member of the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS), Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940. An applicant to the Law School must obtain an LSDAS registration form, available from the Law School Admissions Office and from LSDAS, and should carefully follow all the LSDAS instructions. An applicant must instruct all undergraduate and graduate schools attended to send transcripts of his/her academic record to LSDAS, not directly to Golden Gate University School of Law. If an applicant is currently attending college, transcripts of all work completed to date should be submitted to LSDAS as soon as possible after filing the application to permit provisional evaluation of the application.

LSAT Score Reports: Applicants must take the Law School Admission Test and include a Law School Matching Form with the application.

6. The application and supporting documents, including LSDAS Matching Form, must be filed by April 15, 1994 for admission in the fall 1994 day program; the deadline for the evening program is June 1, 1994. Applicants who wish to apply for Mid-Year Admission beginning in January 1994 must apply by November 15, 1993.
7. A nonrefundable application fee of $40 must accompany each application. Please include a check or money order payable to Golden Gate University with the application.
8. Because the Admissions Office receives a large number of applications, the Law School requests that applicants who wish to inquire about the status of their applications telephone only between 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. on weekdays. The Admissions Office number is (415) 442-6630.

Financial Aid Application Information

The GGU Financial Aid Application Packet and other information will be forwarded to each Law School applicant. In order to meet the priority deadline for financial aid for the Mid-Year Admission 1994, first-year law students must submit the GGU Financial Aid Application by October 1, 1993, and complete the FAF and FAFSA. To meet the priority deadline for financial aid for the fall 1994 entering class, first-year law students must submit the GGU Financial Aid Application by March 1, 1994, and complete the FAF and FAFSA.

No application for financial assistance is considered complete until all required forms and documents are received in the Law School Financial Aid Office.

All Law School applicants will be automatically considered for merit scholarships administered by the Law School.

Further inquiries regarding financial aid should be directed to the Law School Financial Aid Office at Golden Gate University, (415) 442-6635.
